

THE DATA COORDINATORS WORKING GROUP

To facilitate management of the tasks in hand, working groups can be created with a more permanent or temporary duration. Currently, there exist a working group on Data called data coordinators Working group.

The Data coordinators working group is constituted of country member representatives in charge of coordinating their countries' national road safety observatories (or most similar entity). The focus on this working group is to establish minimum data requirements to be shared by countries as well as the nature and frequency of the joint data.

After the sheet circulated during the last General Meeting of ARSO in Durban, we have established a list of members for the data coordinator working group.
